

Postdoctoral Fellowships Nutrition, Obesity and Atherosclerosis University of Washington, Seattle

Promoting Diversity in Research
NIH-funded T32 Training Program

Research Training in

- Central obesity and its relationship to inflammation, dyslipidemia and other cardiovascular risk factors
- Pathogenesis of atherosclerosis
- Dyslipidemia and atherosclerosis
- Role of immunity in cardiovascular disease
- Nutritional factors in cardiovascular disease

We support equity, diversity and inclusion

To Apply: Send a one-page description of your research interests and your CV to Alex Stoller, Fellowship Program Administrator, as52@uw.edu

Program Requirements

- US citizenship or permanent residency
- MD, DO, PhD, PharmD, or equivalent doctoral degree

Program Directors:

Karin Bornfeldt, PhD, Professor of Medicine, bornf@uw.edu

Alan Chait, MD, Professor of Medicine, achait@uw.edu

Diversity Liaisons:

William Mahoney, PhD, wmahoney@uw.edu

Lorena Alarcón-Casas Wright, MD, lorenaac@uw.edu

<https://endocrinology.uw.edu/education/>

